Shields Pal In Shooting

Three-year-old George Pollack, Jr., of New York city lies seriously wounded by a rifle shot through the abdomen in a mid-town hospital. According to police, an older playmate accidentally fired the shot. George shielded the boy, saying: "I did it, I did it myself." Doctors performed an emergency operation to save his life.

Yanks Mop Up Bulge Key City

PARIS, Jan. 16 (AP)—American First Army patrols have entered Houffalize, communications center which once was the heart of the Belgian bulge, and found it apparently abandoned by Germans withdrawing toward the Siegfried Line.

Formal occupation of the town in force by American armor was slowed only by the burned-out wreckage of German equipment which cluttered roads through the outskirts.

Other First Army units were within six miles of St. Vith, key enemy base only four miles from the German frontier.

Lt. Gen. Hodges' troops were smashing the Germans' "last hope" stand short of the Siegfried line on the Salm river north and south of Vielsalm.

To the southeast Lt. Gen. Patton's U. S. Third Army had stabbed two miles across the German border in a drive down the Moselle valley to within four and a half miles of Trier.

The Third Army gained up to a mile and a half on a 10-mile front northwest and southeast of Bastogne. Oubourchy, four miles northeast of Bastogne, was captured.

The 11th Armored Division, a new outfit commanded by Brig. Gen. Charles Kilburn of Silver City, N. M., was disclosed as fighting on the Third Army front. The 11th was the 72d division identified on the western front. Of these, 46 are American.

Third Army battle reports said the Germans were using secondary roads from Houffalize in an orderly withdrawal eastward.

Just west of Houffalize, the link-up of the First and Third armies indicated the time was nearing when Lt. Gen. Bradley would again bring together under his command the original 12th Army group battle team, including two armies and the U. S. Ninth, now guarding the Roer.

As the slender tip of the salient collapsed, the Germans to the northeast fought like mad. First Army forces suffered heavy casualties yesterday in trying to get into the tiny settlement of Sterigny, six miles northeast of Houffalize. A battle went into its fourth day at Thirimont, four miles southeast of Malmedy.

The 75th Infantry Division, commanded by Maj. Gen. Fay B. Pritchett, teamed with the 30th and veteran First Infantry Divisions in a power assault upon St. Vith.

The First Army took 1398 prisoners in the 24 hours ended at midnight.

Temperatures close to zero continued, but there was no indication of further snowfall today.

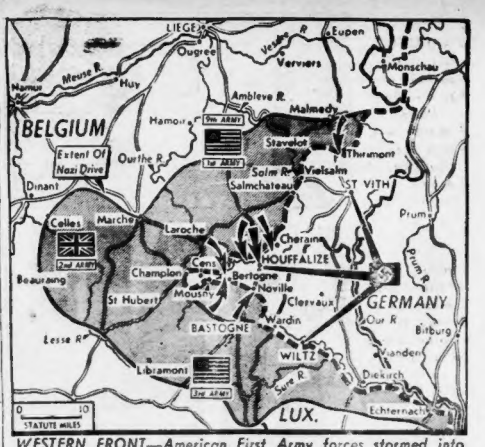
American Seventh Army troops continued cleaning up buildings in Hatten, where the Germans had been trying to bore through the Maginot defense system just north of the Haguenau forest.

North of Strasbourg, other Seventh Army troops were reported to have crossed the Zorn river and gained a mile and a half north of Herrlisheim, 12 miles above the Alsatian capital, against heavy machinegun and rifle fire. West of nearby Offendorf, the Seventh Army speared ahead nearly two miles. Fighting continued in the woods north of Gambsheim.

No report came from the French First Army front

BROWDER SEES TROUBLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (INS)—Communist Leader Earl Browder predicted that postwar Europe faces "large-scale and protracted civil war" unless the "Big Three" governments exert joint leadership to "implement a common policy."



WESTERN FRONT—American First Army forces stormed into Houffalize and pushed to within six miles of St. Vith. First and Third Armies joined south of Laroche . . . while other units of Gen. Patton's Army gained above Bastogne and lashed out into the Reich along the Moselle, east of Luxembourg.

Nazis Say Reds Decide War

LONDON, Jan. 16 (INS)—The war in Europe "will be decided on the outcome of the Soviet winter offensive," the Nazi DNB agency declared today, adding: "It is that this is the opinion voiced by the German morning papers today.

"Stalin is out for a decision," DNB continued. The Voelkischer Beobachter, Hitler's newspaper, today said the German command has to build a new front farther to the rear but that this task has not yet been completed.

Reds Take E. Prussia City

RUSSIAN FRONT—Sweeping on towards German Silesia (shaded), Red army forces have smashed into the key towns of Kielce, Deszno, Glogowiany and Pelczenica in southwestern Poland. Open arrows indicate Russian drives reported by Berlin. Broken line is approximate battleline.

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The German high command announced fall of Schlossberg, 13 miles inside East Prussia, as Russian armies tore gaping holes today in Nazi defenses along 600 miles of front and seriously threatened one of the main rear communication lines of Warsaw.

Nazi broadcasts said "major penetrations" had been made by the Soviets in the Vistula-Bug triangle north of Warsaw and from the Narew bridgeheads south of East Prussia and again declared Premier Stalin's winter offensive was intended to be the deciding battel of the war.

Marshal Konev's big First Ukrainian Army, pounding westward toward Krakow in South Poland, fought its way into the outer salients of defense of the Nazis' Krakow-Warsaw railway line, reputed to be one of the strongest German fortified zones in southeast Europe.

This railway, connecting the Polish capital with Silesia's coal mining and munitions industries, is one of Warsaw's chief arteries of supply.

Konev's steamroller already was in possession of Kielce on the Warsaw-Krakow line and only about 49 miles from the border of German Silesia.

Shoving westward without support of aviation because of fogs, sleet and snow, Konev appeared to be heading straight for the Warsaw-Silesian line on a sector 20 miles wide.

The Berlin radio declared the Russians had sprung a new offensive in the Jaslo area of south Poland, about 85 miles southeast of Kielce, and 70 east of Krakow. This apparently was intended to guard the left flank of the drive into the Warsaw-Krakow line.

This drive into the Warsaw-Krakow line was meeting the first mass of German reserves now, however, and progress may be slowed. If the Russians interfere with traffic over the trunk railway southwest of Warsaw, they would strike one of the biggest blows to Nazi hopes of holding the Polish capital.

Deep Snow Halts Armies in Italy

ROME, Jan. 16 (AP)—Deep snow and poor visibility brought a comparative calm today to the Fifth and Eighth Army fronts in the high Apennines and the eastern Po valley.

Only a few patrol clashes and artillery engagements were reported.

Hunt Jap Troop Convoys

By Associated Press

Free-ranging American carrier planes, fresh from knocking out 69 Japanese ships off Indo-China, bombed and strafed 350 miles of the South China coast in quest of remnants of the Japanese fleet of troop convoys destined for the Philippines.

Hongkong, Swatow and Amoy were raided Sunday (China time) by Third Fleet air forces which may have continued the attack into a second day. In announcing the strike Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said no details were available, but Associated Press War Correspondent Rembert James reported from the carrier flagship that pilots found a lot of "fat shipping" in the harbors.

For the first time Nimitz disclosed full effects of the Indo-China strike two days previously—41 Japanese ships sunk, 28 damaged, 112 planes estroyed and oil refineries and storage tanks destroyed or set afire. Ships sunk or damaged included two entire convoys bound for invaded Luzon island.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's spearheading motorized columns on Luzon, sped southward to Camiling, 80 air miles from Manila. Their advance was slowed only by fear of exposing the left flank as blown bridges and some Japanese opposition held back the easternmost column.

In the northern sector Japanese, solidly emplaced on hill positions put up the only real fight of the campaign. Accurate Japanese artillery and mortar fire drove Americans from the Amortis-Rosario road into the woods. Two days of naval shellfire silenced the Nipponese guns.

The determined Japanese fight guarding the approaches to northern Luzon was in marked contrast with the lack of opposition to the south.

In Burma, Chinese troops have captured Namhkam, Jap stronghold on the China border. Only Wanting and 25 intervening miles need to be taken before truck convoys can begin to toll over the Ledo-Burma road to China.

Agitation for a new government of Japan grew in Tokyo.

Reich Oil Plant, Railyards Lashed

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Six hundred American long-range bombers struck deep into east central Germany today, hammering a synthetic oil plant south of Leipzig, the Krupp Works at Magdenburg, and railyards at Dresden and Dessau.

Start PW Exchange Of 9000 Tomorrow

BERN, Jan. 16 (AP)—The largest exchange of prisoners in this war will begin tomorrow at Kruezlingen. Involved are about 9000 persons—5000 German prisoners against 2500 wounded American, British and South Americans, plus 900 German civilians and an equal number of Americans in Germany.

The exchange was arranged by the Swiss government.

Churchill Backs FD's Stand On Charter in Commons Tilt

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told Commons today he was in complete agreement with President Roosevelt's views on the Atlantic Charter and the objectives now were just the same as in 1941, although all of them could not be achieved immediately.

Laborite Rhys Davies had suggested that Roosevelt's recent statement "cast doubt on the genuineness of the Atlantic Charter."

When members pressed Churchill for a report as soon as possible on what parts of the charter were "valid immediately," Churchill snapped back:

"I really do not think there is any need to go into that. It has been very well described by the President as a standard of aims—an indication of the direction in which we are proceeding. It is not law."

Churchill told the newly-convened Commons "the war will be prolonged until unconditional surrender has been obtained," and the House cheered.

Laborite Davis inquired:

"Do you not think that these threats against the Axis powers have a tendency to stiffen the people of Germany behind their leaders and prolong the war?"

"No, sir," Churchill shot back.

Cambridge GI, Girl Tried in Taxi Death

By JOHN F. CHESTER

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Sitting in the dock of London's grim Old Baily law court as the first American soldier ever to face a capital charge there, Karl Gustav Hulten of Cambridge, Mass., 22-year-old paratrooper, today heard himself accused by his co-defendant of "cold-blooded murder."

A statement attributed to Mrs. Elizabeth Marina Jones, 18-year-old strip-tease dancer and co-defendant, was read. She described the shooting of George Edward Heath, a taxi driver known as "the man with the left chin," then declared she said:

"'That is cold-blooded murder? How could you do it?'"

"People in my profession haven't time to think what they do," Hulten was quoted as replying.

Sallow-complexioned, but seeming very young and boyish, Hulten pleaded innocent as the trial opened. He spoke in a firm voice in contrast to the barely audible "not guilty" plea by pale, blonde, Mrs. Jones, self-described as a "bad girl." Her husband was in the British air-borne forces and is now listed as missing in action.

Hulten drew pictures on a blotter as the crown counsel read details of a sordid crime, quoting them as the words of Mrs. Jones. She, too, drew or scribbled as the trial went on.

Her statement referred to Hulten as "Ricky" and told how they had hired Heath and directed him to drive them to a lonely spot.

"I heard a click and saw that Ricky had his automatic in his right hand," Mrs. Jones was alleged to have stated. "I realized he was going to frighten the driver with his gun and take his money.

"Heath leaned over from his seat with the obvious intention of opening the near side door. As Heath was leaning over I saw a flash and heard a bang. . . .

"Heath moaned heavily and turned a little towards the front. Ricky said to him, 'Move over or I will give you another dose of the same.' He seemed to understand what he said, because he moved further to the left hand side of the front seat. . . . His head slumped to his chest. The next I realized was that Ricky was in the driving seat and the car was moving."

Hulten appeared in court in his Army uniform.

Mrs. Jones said Hulten told her to go through Heath's pockets before they rolled his body into a ditch. She said she took his wallet.

L. Byrne, opening the prosecution, introduced testimony in

Bellboy, Deb Tell Romance

In their Commonwealth ave. one-room apartment today, the former Barbara Graham, wealthy 18-year-old socialite, and Lionel George Gale, Jr., the 19-year-old former Ritz-Carlton bellboy, told how their romance led to marriage.

They revealed they were wed last week in St. Andrew's Church, Wellesley, and that their parents were present at the ceremony to give their blessing. The bridegroom is the son of a Beacon Hill consulting engineer and a Medford woman. Both his parents have remarried since their divorce.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Leavitt Edgar of Grove st., Wellesley, and stepdaughter of Leavitt Edgar, vice-president of the Boston Edison Co. She graduated last June from exclusive Dana Hall School in Wellesley.

Here's how the newlyweds explained their romance:

"We met late last spring at an engagement party at a Boston hotel and fell in love at first sight. We've been going about together ever since."

"Just before Christmas we decided we'd get married this January and we told our parents all about it."

It seems that all the parents approved of young love but the Edgars thought maybe a June wedding would be nicer. Barbara demurred and so she was wed in the little Wellesley church with her brother, T-Sgt. Charles Graham, home on furlough, for best man.

"I'm going to Garland School to learn home making," she said, "and Lionel is going to be a photo-engraver. And we are very, very happy."

Domei reported today that a new Japanese fighter plane, the Hien (Flying Swallow), had been sent into action overseas and over Japan's home islands.

The Domei dispatch said the Hien had "already proved its mettle in air combat by performing brilliantly in our interception operations against the enemy B-29's raiding the Japanese homeland."

Tokyo recently announced six other reportedly new planes.

Wife of Soldier in Murder Hides, Parents Mystified

Mrs. Rita Pero Hulton, wife of Pvt. Karl Gustav Hulton, 22-year-old American soldier on trial for murder in London, has isolated herself with their small child since the news of her husband's arrest came to her.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Spero of Prince st., Cambridge, have steadfastly refused to disclose her whereabouts to all but her most intimate and loyal friends.

The soldier's mother, Mrs. Signe Hulton, a Back Bay domestic, and the Speros have consulted frequently in their common sorrow. They have gone to Army authorities here in hope of helping him but they have been told there is nothing they can do, for Hulton's fate is being weighed on the scales of British justice.

His wife, meanwhile, is planning to go to work next month, her mother revealed. Before Hulton was taken into the Army, he and his wife lived with her parents. He conducted himself then as a man of character and his women folk believe he must be innocent of the murder charge, Mrs. Spero said. She added:

"We do not understand it. We don't know what the war does to young men, but we cannot believe Karl could have changed so much as to commit murder."

Sleet Due to Wind Up Third Snowstorm; State Digs Out

A blustery nor'easter, with winds reaching 50 miles an hour, struck southern New England today, giving Boston its third snowstorm within 10 days.

The new storm was expected to leave more than four inches on the blanket heaped on the city by the earlier falls.

The weather bureau said between 8 and 10 inches would fall in midstate sections, already hard hit by the previous storms.

Highway crews of the city and State were ordered to work shortly after the storm began and officials reported every effort was being made to "stay ahead" of it.

The snow was expected to give way to sleet during the afternoon and the weather bureau said the storm would end early in the night.

Coastal shipping was warned to expect northeast winds up to 60 miles an hour from Eastport to Block island.

The storm will be followed by clearing and much colder tonight, with the lowest temperature in Boston expected to be about 8 above.

Woman, 2 Men Held for Death

LAWRENCE, Jan. 16—Mystery surrounding the discovery of the body of Mrs. Hazel B. Clement in a Methuen snow bank early Sunday, appeared solved today and two men and a woman pleaded innocent in istrict court to illegal surgery and associated charges.

The brunette divorcee died in a Lawrence house, her body was taken down a ladder from a second-story window Saturday night and transported by truck to a spot near Searles Pond, Metheun, where is was dumped, police asserted.

Miss Hazel Newman, 38, of Washington st., in whose home Mrs. Clement died, according to police, was held in $5C000.

Corresponding bond was fixed for James Yazbek, 56, of Beacon st., charged with being an accessory before and after the fact. Police declared Yazbek acted as an intermediary for Louis E. Cooperstein, 47, of Franklin st., who lived at the same address as the divorcee. Cooperstein was held in $2000. He was charged with being an accessory before the fact.

Judge John J. Darcy continued the case to Saturday.

The defendants were arrested after an autopsy by Dr. Alan Moritz, State pathologist, and Medical Examiner Julius J. Burgiel revealed Mrs. Clement had been subjected to an operation.

Special Officer John P. F. Bolton of Lawrence police asserted Cooperstein admitted having taken Mrs. Clement to Miss Newman's home Saturday morning.

Saturday night, Bolton said, Miss Newman told him the divorcee had died. Cooperstein confessed police said, that he had been asked to get rid of the body and use a truck to transport it. Bolton said he refused to assist.

At 11 o'clock that night, without Cooperstein's involvement, Bolton said, Mrs. Clement's body was taken down a ladder from the second floor of Miss Newman's home and taken to the lonely spot where a Lowell motorist discovered it several hours later.

GIs AMONG 14 TO DIE IN FIRE IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Jan. 16 (INS)—Fourteen persons perished, some of them soldiers, and others were feared trapped in a fire which destroyed the Hotel Gen. Clark.

With the five-story structure, a 40-year-old hotel on the fringe of Chicago's Loop, still smouldering, 12 bodies had been removed from the ruins this morning.

Of those who died, nine were burned fatally, four suffocated, and one, the only woman victim, died in a leap from her third floor front window.

She was Mrs. Ella Johnson, about 30. The only other identified dead at this time were Edward Jessel, 39, and Joseph Feilen, 65, a certified public accountant.

The moderate-priced hotel was widely patronized by servicemen.

Coroner A. L. Brodie said it appeared the whole structure had burst into flames at practically the same time.

First firemen on the scene said the building was such an inferno they were unable to enter and they used ladders and life nets to rescue the 76 occupants.

Louis Caplan, 71, in a fourth floor window, was saved from jumping when firemen turned hose lines on the walls near him. He was carried down a ladder suffering severe burns.

Harry Rosenberg, 57, night manager, said he smelled smoke coming from a store room just to the rear of the registration desk. He said:

"The flames came out so fast, sweeping over the switchboard, that I couldn't alarm the guests."

Coupons on Tour

OAKFIELD, N. Y., Jan. 16 (AP)—Six ration books which traveled to Germany in a case of canned tomatoes have been returned to Mrs. Lee Court.

Sgt. C. H. Riley, who identified himself as a mess sergeant of an infantry unit in Germany, returned the coupons with a letter.

Mrs. Court lost the ration boks last August while working at the Haxton Canning Co. plant here.

Bride to Sue Confined Jo Jo

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (INS)—Mrs. Joseph Stinson, the former Violet Bache-Biddle disclosed today she planned an anulment of her marriage to the 60-year-old former State Department aide.

Mrs. Stinson told newsmen of her plans following her return to Washington and the subsequent arrest of husband Jo Jo by Washington police and his commitment for psychiatric observation.

J. Stinson

Stinson previously called on the FBI to search for Mrs. Stinson, who he said was missing. It was revealed later that she had gone to visit her brother in New Jersey.

She described her husband's actions in recent weeks as highly eccentric, asserting that he had been writing poems furiously—even in his sleep.

Hospital officials gave no information as to Stinson's condition.

FURS THIEF HUNTED

Dogs Save 4, Others Hurt in 2 Hub Fires

Two Spitz dogs saved the lives of four residents of a Dover st., South End, apartment building today when their excited barking led to discovery of a fire which swept through the building, causing $2000 damage and forcing residents of neighboring dwellings to flee from thick smoke.

Earlier, four persons were injured in a two-alarm blaze in Kensington st., Roxbury, when they leaped 25 feet from second floor windows after tossing two youngsters into the arms of neighbors.

The dogs, Teddy and Queenie, pets of Mrs. Alida Bailey, 55, smelled smoke, and their excited barking resulted in discovery that the apartment hallway was filled with flames and clouds of smoke.

Using ladders to second-floor windows, firemen rescued Mrs. Bailey, John King, 65, a blind man; Mrs. Anna Lavigne, 45, and her daughter, Theresa, 22. The dogs, snarling and snapping, refused to be rescued and remained in the building until the blaze was extinguished.

In the Roxbury fire flames gained headway through the building before they aroused Mr. and Mrs. William J. Nickerson on the third floor. The couple shouted to rouse other occupants and then fled to safety by a rear stairway.

They arrived in the open just in time to catch Walter Gately, Jr., 3, and Ronald, 8, tossed from a second-floor bedroom window by their parents, Walter and Maude Gately. The latter then lowered themselves from the window ledge and dropped to the ground. Both suffered leg injuries.

Mrs. Beatrice Bresnahan suffered a possible fracture of the spine when she jumped from the window of a second-floor apartment. She was held for treatment at City Hospital. Her son, William, 12, was released after treatment of a minor leg injury.

Oscar Ridlon, owner and first-floor occupant, crippled by a fractured ankle suffered in a recent fall, was carried from the building by firemen. His wife and Mrs. Marian Murphy, third-floor tenant, reached safety unaided.

The fire was the second in three weeks to make the Gately and Nickerson families homeless. Their home in Zeigler st., Roxbury, was destroyed Christmas Eve and they have been living temporarily in the Ridlon dwelling.

Bevin Asks British 5-Year Fair Wage Law

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Ernest Bevin, British minister of labor, asked Parliament today for what he described as a five-year national fair-wage law. He said industrial councils would be given power to fix remuneration, including guaranteed weekly wages and provisions for holidays.

For five years employers would be under obligation to observe the terms of employment as settled by agreement, Bevin explained.

Tobin to Inspect All State Hospitals

Gov. Tobin, hard at work on his state budget, planned today for a thorough personal inspection of all hospitals, mental institutions and prisons in Massachusetts.

The Chief Executive said that the state now is spending $20,000,000 yearly to maintain these institutions and he wants first-hand knowledge of what is being accomplished.

End Their Barbershop Blues

HOMER, Ill., Jan. 16 (AP)—A shy, small-town barber came to Homer yesterday, received a welcome rivaling a returning hero's reception—and immediately went to work trimming some of the 2000 shaggy heads of men folks in this village and its rural environs.

A reception committee, plus a goodly portion of the town's population, greeted the barber, Richard Dutos, when he stepped from a train. There was a procession to the Main st. barber shop—without a barber for three months since the draft called the town's last tonsorial expert.

Duton arranged his barbering articles, donned a white coat and went to work. He came from Foosland, Ill., in response to a newspaper advertisement, inserted, said committee members, because "our wives were raising the devil."

Fans Stampede For Hope Show

Thousands of eager purchasers stormed Boston Garden box offices today as tickets went on sale for the first time for the great Bobe Hope all-star show at Boston Garden, Jan. 24, for the benefit of wounded servicemen in New England.

Lines of ticket seekers began to form outside the boxoffices at 6 a. m., three hours before the windows were due to open, and by 9 a. m. the queues had increased so greatly that the lines sprawled down stairways and ramps into the vast concourse of the North Station.

Servicemen and night-shift war workers were sprinkled liberally through the throng which awaited a chance to buy tickets for the gala show in which Hope will present his entire radio cast

The stars accompanying Hope will include Frances Langford, Jerry Colonna, Skinny Ennis, Vera Vague and Toni Romano. All proceeds of the performance will be devoted to the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser Hospitalization Servicemen's Fund.

Garden ticket officials, amazed at the largest crowd in years to seek tickets so far in advance for an event there, scurried to prepare additional windows to handle the huge throng. Tickets are on sale also at Boston Arena.

The Garden switchboard was bombarded with telephone calls all morning, but no phone orders could be accepted. Mail orders are accepted but must be clearly written with checks or money orders made out to the Boston Garden. Seats for the show are priced at $1.20, $2.40 and $3.60

Box office sales will continue daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Hope and his troupe of chosen favorites of America's servicemen in their two trips overseas and their thousands of appearances at camps and hospitals in this country, have just finished a bomber tour of seven Army airfields in Oklahoma, Kansas, and Colorado, and have already arrived in the East. Yesterday was "Bob Hope Day," a community festival, in Philadelphia.

He will continue touring camps and hospitals on the coast, and his appearance here a week from tomorrow will follow by 24 hours his regular Tuesday night radio show held from a Rhode Island naval base under sponsorship of the Pepsodent Co.

Not to be outdone in generosity of talent, other stars of stage and screen, radio and night club will join the gala benefit.

The list of luminaries includes: The famed Aristocrats quartet; the Latin Quarter's stellar attractions, Pat Rooney, the Edwards Brothers, the Amory Brothers and the Don Arden Dancing Beauties; the Mayfair's stars, Gracie Barrie, Ginger Harmon, Herb Lewis and Johnny Howard.

From the RKO Theater, the King Cole Trio and the favorite trumpeter, Louis Prima, along with the songstress, Germaine, and the popular Buddy Bonds of Myles Standish. Other celebrated entertainers will join the all-star show and their names will be announced daily in the Record-American.

Do not delay. Get your tickets today!

Message Soon On Work Draft

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt is preparing to send Congress a special message favoring national service legislation.

As a preliminary, he held a White House conference today with service chiefs and legislators concerned with the subject.

It was not disclosed when the message would go to the Capitol. In his recent message on the state of the union, Mr. Roosevelt came out emphatically for universal service and said he would communicate with Congress on it later.

British War Toll 1,043,554 in 5 Years

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP)—British Empire casualties from the start of the war in September, 1939, to last Nov. 30 totalled 1,043,554, Prime Minister Churchill told Commons today.

The United Kingdom suffered the heaviest casualties—635,107, Churchill said, listing dominion casualties as:

15 Cigarets a Day Under Ration Plan

CHICAGO, Jan. 16 (AP)—Cigarets, which since last fall have been one of the nation's wartime hard-to-get commodities, will be available at the rate of about 15 daily to civilians under a voluntary rationing system planned by the National Ass'n of Tobacco Distributors.

The association estimated the average daily civilian consumption last year was slightly more than 17 cigarets.

The association, with a membership of 2800 which controls distribution of cigarets to the country's 1,250,000 retail outlets, said a card system of issuing smokes will be inaugurated within two weeks.

The plan, described as designed to achieve orderly allotment, would mark the first time an industry attempted to ration in wartime a scarce commodity.

Under the system numbered ration cards will be issued by retailers to consumers who will be required to sign a declaration that they have not obtained cards elsewhere.

The rationing will not be attempted at outlets for transient trade—hotels, railroad and bus stations—or at chain stores. About 13 per cent of the available cigarets are sold at these places, the association estimated.

There is no immediate prospect for any substantial improvement in supplies this year, the association said, stating that in 1944 33 million packs of tax paid cigarets were produced daily for domestic consumption.

Asks State Aid In School Fight

Threatened with court action, a Randolph mother today sought state aid to force the Randolph school committee to restore bus service for her three young children, whom she now refuses to send to school.

She is Mrs. Manuel Fernandez, 36, of Pine st., whose children, Kenneth, 6; Albert, 13, and Eugene, 10, have failed to report to the Tower Hill School since Jan. 2.

The long walk each day, especially when it rains, is too much for the youngsters' health, according to Mrs. Fernandez.

Too Shrimped!

GREENVILLE, Miss., Jan. 16 (AP)—Capt. Gerard Grafton wrote from somewhere in Germany: "No more shrimp, please."

Relatives here, at Memphis and in Arkansas wondered: "Was Gerard sick? He always liked shrimp. He had even written once asking for canned shrimp."

A check revealed the captain's letter, round-robined to relatives, had resulted in shipment of approximately 400 cans of shrimp.

NEW LISTING OF ESSENTIAL JOBS AWAITED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Workers and industrialists with claims to war usefulness awaited the government's decision on whether their home front jobs are of critical importance to victory.

On the answer, expected from the War Manpower Commission today, hinges the decision on where Selective Service will make its first new inroads into industry in taking some 200,000 men of age 26 through 29 this spring by ending their draft deferments.

Admitting their loss would hurt war production, War Mobilization Director Byrnes asked that the disruption be minimized by careful operation of the Selective Service system.

On the question, where will the ax fall first? Byrnes gave half an answer by laying down a job-priority table. This, if followed by local boards, would insure that the least important workers, and those able to be replaced, would be inducted before key men and irreplaceable men.

The other half-answer lies in a revision of the national list of essential activities, which covers bushinesses and occupations contributing directly and indirectly to the war effort. The revision has just been completed by top war officials, working in secret with Byrnes.

Some of the essential industries will be designated as critical, and these will be spared the loss of key workers until the industries which retain merely the essential rating have been tapped.

Plants and services contributing directly to the meeting of soaring Army and Navy demands for weapons and supplies obviously will get the critical rating. Others—and these are understood to include the government, schools, newspapers and many others—will retain their essential standing without the critical designation.

Congressional study of work-or-fight legislation continued. Meanwhile, the National Ass'n of Manufacturers called for immediate enforcement of the work-or-fight principle.

The association said no additional legislation is needed to do this. It did not ask more power for the War Manpower Commission.

Bunker Oil Shortage Acute

Although distributors warned that Boston faces a bunker oil shortage which soon may affect schools, theaters, meeting halls and all non-essential plants, Richard P. Doherty, state fuel conservator, asserted the situation was not as gloomy as dealers pictured it.

"Bunker oil supplies are tight, but not yet critical," Doherty said. "However, unless the situation is relieved, it will rapidly become drastic."

Meanwhile, regional OPA officials announced that the supply of household fuel oil and kerosene was sufficient to meet current demands, but warned householders to conserve supplies to avoid a shortage within the next three weeks.

Farrell Ousts Argentine Aide

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 16 (AP)—President Farrell, at behest of War Minister Peron, has obtained the resignation of Foreign Minister Peluffo in what appeared to be a test of strength among Argentina's army rulers.

Gen. Peluffo, recently rebuffed by the Pan-American Union in attempting to win an international hearing on his country's wartime policies, said Farrell requested him to step down, "not for reasons connected with my official functions . . . but because of my view regarding the government's recent orientation of domestic matters."

Three other foreign ministry officials resigned with Peluffo. Three other army leaders are no longer at their government posts, but their names cannot be revealed without infringing the nation's continuing state of siege regulations.

All these charges are declared to be leading up to a presidential election.

Ex-GI Kills Wife, Self With Shotgun

HOLLAND, Mich., Jan. 16 (AP)—A young mother and her ex-soldier husband were shot to death in their home here yesterday. Unharmed was the couple's infant son.

The coroner said the father, Thomas De Feyder, 30, shot his wife, Rita, 23, and then himself with a shotgun.

The couple were married last spring following De Feyder's medical discharge from the Army. He had been unemployed.

New Treaty Holds Perpetual Danger

By RAY RICHARDS
Boston Evening American, Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—Vast perpetual dangers to United States resources, suspected in the State Dept.'s new rivers treaty with Mexico, began to take detailed form at a conference between California and Nevada representatives of great public water and power projects and Sen. Hiram W. Johnson (R.) of California, ranking minority member of the Senate foreign relations committee.

Sen. Johnson opposes the treaty.

The Westerners allege a State Dept. plan to expand the unprecedented permanent terms of the proposed agreement to future pacts regulating international streams and to future agreements in general by which American resources might be given away without congressional recourse.

They claim it is a step in a general plan to accomplish international transactions without a senatorial check.

Because the treaty would not be renewable at stated intervals with Senate consent, all power would pass from Congress to a new, superpowered international commission, the American section of which would be responsible only to the State Dept.

Everlasting peril by way of precedent, the Westerners say, is that the new-model perpetual treaty would:

Deprive Congress of its present appropriations control over waterway and waterworks.

Commit Congress to expenditures at the word of the State Department.

Take Boulder Dam affairs away from the reclamation bureau and give them to the control of the American division of the new international commission.

Permit the United States to act only with the consent of Mexico.

Reviewing recent comment of the State Department itself Atty. Gen. Robert W. Kenny of California, who is to be here for the hearings, has charged that the treaty is intended as a model for future pacts governing U. S.-Canadian streams, all of which are renewed under present terms every five years with Senate consent.

Baler Provides More Salvage

John T. Kiley, regional manager of the WPB Salvage Dept., today issued instructions for the making of a simple home paper baler so that wastebasket paper may be salvaged for the war effort.

"If each home had one of these balers into which wastebaskets could be dumped, I feel sure a large quantity of high grade scrap paper could be saved," he said.

The instructions follow:

1—Remove the cover of a carton.

2—Punch holes about an inch from the top edge of the carton. Put two holes in the sides and one in each end.

3—Lay three pieces of heavy twine on the bottom and extend long ends through the holes to the outside.

4—Put folded newspapers, a piece of cardboard, or heavy wrapping paper on the bottom of the box, covering the twine.

5—Fill the box with flat pieces of scrap paper, writing paper, envelopes, wrapping paper, collapsed cereal boxes, etc. Press them down firmly and place a newspaper across the top. Pull the extended ends of the twine back through the holes and tie across the top. Now the scrap paper is baled and ready to be lifted from the carton.

Italian Socialist Finds Joker in Armistice

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP)—An Italian delegate to the International Socialist meeting in France has asserted there is a secret clause in the Italian armistice whereby the Allies "seem to reserve certain rights to royalty," the Paris radio said today.

The Italian delegate—identified only as Signor Bufoni—was quoted as saying the Socialist party voluntarily left the Bonomi government because of this clause.

Back Ship Sale To Britain

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—Sale or transfer to Britain of a substantial amount of this country's war built merchant fleet is receiving serious consideration from several highly placed Administration officials.

The idea has been suggested at various times as a result of the enormous amount of shipping now under American control, and of Britain's cargo deficit. Backing for it is so strong that it appeared likely today to become one of the main proposals for helping the British to recover from the effects of the war.

It may also become one of the focal points of controversy over the extent to which United States assistance should be given to other Allied countries. There appears to be a strong sentiment here also for trying to make this country the world's leading maritime power after the war.

Shift Charges In Moyne Trial

CAIRO, Jan. 16 (AP)—In an 11th hour move, prosecuting attorneys today altered charges against Elahou Bet Souri, young Jewish nationalist, to make him jointly responsible with Eliahou Hakim for the assassination of Lord Moyne. Bet Souri previously was charged with the death of Moyne's chauffeur and with complicity in the death of the British diplomat, whom Hakim has admitted shooting.

The killing of the chauffeur, being unpremeditated, Bet Souri had a better chance of escaping the death penalty. Legally he is now liable to receive the same sentence as Hakim.

The court adjourned to consider this newest move. Its decision will be announced tomorrow. The defense opposed the change, but agreed that it was legally permissable.

Canadian Flier Dahl Faces 14 Charges

MONTREAL, Jan. 16 (AP)—Harold (Whitey) Dahl, Royal Canadian Air Force squadron leader, faces an RCAF court-martial on 14 charges on improper disposal of government property, ranging from a vacuum cleaner to the remains of damaged aircraft.

Ryan Assails Secret Anti-Curley Motive

Rep. Francis E. Ryan of Somerville today charged that sponsors of the drive to postpone a special election to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Gov. Tobin as mayor of Boston were concealing their real motives behind a plea for economy.

"It strikes me," said Ryan, "as significant and suspicious that certain men who never hesitate to allow personal bias and political dislike to dictate their acts are desperately trying to influence the legislature to forget the Boston city charter and dictate to 400,000 voters of the city.

"I know of no similar proposal to the legislature. Its sponsors seem to be attacking a certain individual without doing so in the open. I cannot subscribe to this type of activity and I feel that the voters of Boston are entitled to know the real reason for the movement to take from them their right to choose their own mayor as existing law provides.

"There are precedents to warrant refusal by the legislature to spend very much time considering the situation. When the mayors of Springfield and Lynn, two of the principal cities of the Commonwealth, entered the armed service, no legislator from either of those cities sponsored any movement to have the city charter ignored.

"In each case there was strict compliance with the city charter.

"Why should there not be similar compliance in the existing situation in Boston? The city is without a mayor. The charter specifies that a special election shall be held, and to make the intent of the framers of the charter—the legislature—and of the voters of Boston—who adopted it—more emphatic, it was made incumbent upon the city council to forthwith set a date for the special election.

"Why the city council has failed to be obedient to the mandate of the charter is not any mystery. It is obvious that the councilors think they perceive a chance to gain and maintain for some months complete control of the city government.

"To me there is nothing involved or confusing about the situation. The only action that I believe to be necessary is the setting of a date for a special election by the city council. Then the voters will choose a mayor as is done in every other city in the Commonwealth."

CHURCHILL

"We don't take that view at all. I think the House would be overwhelmingly against peace by negotiation.

"At any rate, our Allies would be overwhelming opposed to such a course.

"I am not of the opinion that he demand for unconditional surrender is prolonging the war.

"In any event the war will be prolonged until unconditional surrender has been obtained."

Ben Riley, another Laborite, continued to press the point, asking whether it was appreciated the "slogan 'unconditional surrender' has great political value for Hitler and his gang?"

"I don't think that is so," Churchill replied.

Churchill sought to turn aside questions concerning the tangled sGreek situation, saying: "I should be glad if members will be good enough to await a statement which will be made on behalf of the government in the course of the coming debate."

A full scale war statement has been set by Churchill for Thursday.

Continued questions about statements made by the new leaders of Greece brought from Churchill the comment:

"I cannot be responsible for the day to day remarks that are made by the head of the Greek government. I have every reason to believe the present government in Greece is extremely democratic. As a matter of fact I believe it is composed entirely of republicans."

GI Trial

which both Hulten and the girl blamed each other for the crime. He contended "although hers was not the hand that fired the shot, as a matter of law Jones is just as guilty as the person who actually did fire the shot."

Byrne quoted Hulten as saying:

"I would not have been here but for the girl. I wanted to go for a walk, but she didn't want to. We went into a shop doorway and she started yelling for a cab. The first one was a naval car. The next one was Heath's car and he stopped. Had it not been for her, I would not have shot Heath."

Byrne said when Hulten was captured he was wearing the uniform of a U. S. second lieutenant and gave his name as "Lt. Richard John Allen of the parachute infantry."

A pistol was found in his pocket and he was driving a bullet-dented car, Byrne said. A doctor has testified, he declared, the dents were caused by "a bullet fired from the back which passed through Heath's body."

A jury of nine men and three women, all either middle-aged or elderly, listened intently to the prosecution's review of the crime.

Mrs. Jones parents, dressed in black, sat in two of the few public seats. They heard testimony that a friend who commented upon their daughter's tired appearance was told she had "been a bad girl and been drinking heavily."

Three American officers were present, one as an official observer.

Byrne was forced to explain various U. S Army slang expressions to the British jury. Hulten had been saying he spent a previous Sunday with a "commando" and Byrne explained this meant a "prostitute"

Plan Opera Benefit

By BETTY ALDEN

CELEBRATING her husband's brief leave, beauteous Mrs. Walter Railsbach (Mitzi Ott) of West Newton, a bride of last summer, had a festive evening dining and dancing with Lt. Railsbach in the Copley Plaza Oval Room. She wore for the occasion a spiffy black cocktail dress brightened with bands of flame satin at the neckline.

The same evening a merry family dinner party included Mrs. Richard Waters with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dick Jr. (Joan Chapin), whose Navy officer husband is in the Pacific, her brother Harry and sister, Mrs. Peter Edgerly (Sue Chapin). The senior Mrs. Waters accented her beautiful snowy hair with a modish black ensemble while Joan chose a black frock brightened with a Valentine motif of gold kid bows and arrows appliqued at the high neckline.

Jean Cochrane

At a nearby table Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barr were entertaining for their daughter, Ann, a debutante of next year, who wore a sparkling multi-colored sequin chaplet to complement her black frock. In another gay young group were Sallie Sewell, her cousin, Nicholas Sewell, Mary Ellen Saunders and several others.

CONSTANCE WITHINGTON heads the debutante committee for the Boston Opera Company which is presenting a week of grand opera at the Opera House Jan. 27-Feb 4. She is getting together with her friends at the Copley Plaza this afternoon to discuss plans for the Feb. 4 matinee of "Traviata" when many youthful opera fans will be in the audience and blocks of seats will be sold for a war charity to be chosen by the debs.

The committee includes a number of girls who are combining deb activities with their college courses. Anna A. Prince and Diana Amory Sullivan are at Radcliffe, Jean MacDill at Wheaton, Madeline Wilson at Wellesley and Gwen Fearing at a secretarial school. Others are Dorothy Whitney, Sabra Harwood, Alice Herrick Mumford, Rachel S. Rock, May Minturn Sedgwick and Margaret B. Thayer.

Liquor Probe Aims To Curb Monopolies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP) —A new inquiry into the liquor industry was aimed today at shedding further light on what Sen. Fergurson, (R.) of Michigan called "the rule of the monopolies."

Fergurson, asking $15,000 to finance additional investigations by the judiciary subcommittee, told reporters the liquor industry is dominated by Schenley's, Hiram Walker, Seagram's and National Distillers.

The committee wants to know, he said, "the full extent to which liquor distribution is controlled by the big four."

Furlough Rules Greatly Relaxed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP) —The War Department has removed all limitations on the number of soldiers who may receive 30-day furloughs.

As a result, Gen. Marshall said in a letter to Rep. Brooks D. of Louisiana, the number of service-men returning from war zone probably will "increase markedly" in the next few months.

Theater commanders, the chief of staff said, now have authority to return any men they can spare for one month plus travel time.

Cream That's Ageless

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

"DON'T LET Father Time scare you" . . . a shaft aimed directly at all men who cringe when birthdays come up for discussion . . . and they do. Even your dearest friend keeps track of your years. But really it's fun keeping beautiful . . . it's more fun outsmarting age.

We saw so many modeling beauties during the past week . . . we were bedazzled. Honestly, they are not as young as they look . . . not all of them. A few confided to us that they were past 30 . . . though in face and figure they were as alive and gorgeous to the eye as an 18-year-old deb. These girls were proud of the camouflage which defies detection.

Models are such gay, spirited young women . . . full of savoire faire . . . oozing distinctive beauty and glamour. But they work hard at it. True, they may be endowed with finely chiseled features . . . but the constantly necessitated make-up . . . to perpetual appearance before strong lights demand more than casual devotion to complexion and vivacity of countenance.

Never do they take themselves for granted. They are as enslaved to cosmetics that perpetuate a youthful face with as much devotion as you and I are. One excellent way for you and me to assist nature in retaining that youthful facial glow and vitality is an amazing scientific cream . . . for which we have great respect . . . created by a famous house long famous for impeccable standards in beauty preparations.

CREAM WORKS WHILE YOU SLEEP

As you probably know, and as we have many times stated . . . when you are young, a natural secretion is produced which helps to keep young skins clear and supple . . . but as years pass, glandular activity becomes less brisk . . . and this youthful secretion diminishes . . . which may leave the skin looking woefully old, sallow and sad without sparkle.

We're all for scientific creams for the gal past 30 . . . creams that can do more for her complexion than ordinary creams . . . especially this cream which contains an active hormone ingredient that can be absorbed by the skin . . . and dermatologists say a hormone cream IS absorbed.

There are no complicated methods involved in its use. After your face is clean . . . a must at all times . . . you smooth a little of this wonder cream on and leave overnight. It works while you sleep. Within a month your skin looks more pliant, moist and fresh . . . you'll be glowing with a new loveliness. Who knows, you, too, may look like the Big City glamour-models?

For the name of this ageless skin cream, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HATS WILL BE high, wide and handsome this spring. Can your face match the new-season beauty designed for your head? Be gay and bright of face . . . with a new youthful glow and sparkle . . . which you can achieve within a month through the use of a scientific cream . . . and then go to town with that Easter bonnet. Lovely Barbara Stanwyck poses.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Monday—Yesterday afternoon I went over with Secretary and Mrs. Morgenthau to the Corcoran Gallery of Art to see the exhibition of triptychs for the armed forces.

The Citizens' Committee for the Army and Navy, Inc., which organized these artists to do religious pictures for use in camps, with units in the field, and on board ship, has really done a remarkable piece of work. Thomas Watson gave them a grant which allowed them to send to Seabee groups a very beautiful altar painting done with their particular work in mind.

The various armed services make requests through their chaplains or their commanding officers, and then the organization tries to find someone to donate the cost. Many have already been placed, and I am sure that many more will be given.

LATER IN THE AFTERNOON a group of men from Walter Reed Hospital came in. As it was not too large a group, it was possible to talk to everyone, and we really had a very pleasant hour.

The first thing I did this morning was to meet some grandchildren at the train. Then, at my press conference, I asked Mrs. Lilian Mowrer to come and talk about the drive which is just beginning to increase the membership of the Women's Action Committee. This organization is an outgrowth of the old Cause and Cure of War Group, founded by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt.

Mrs. Catt believed if we could draw in more and more women's organizations and educate them to the need for peace and the factors which bring about bad feeling among nations, the women could accomplish a great deal and be an influence in the nation. With the coming of war, this type of study ceased to have very much point, and the Women's Action Committee was the next step. These women intend not only to be informed, but to take action by using their influence on their own individual representatives.

PERHAPS ONE OF THE FIRST things that women might do is to spread that story which appeared in one of the newspapers the other day, warning us not to believe everything we hear over the radio or read in the papers, and citing the fact that an English voice talked over a German radio and gave a fake broadcast.

Of course, the servicemen at the fronts must be very familiar with this technique. They even get to know the voices of people who speak on German stations.

Wartime Spring Clothes

By BETTINA BEDWELL

MELTING softness is the biggest aim of designers making springtime dresses, coats and even suits. They have to stick to the L-85 regulations, which don't allow much room for extra material, but they have their ways of softening up our frozen dress lines, just the same.

One way I have seen often in the best collections is the softly draped sleeve, and it gets that way in many collections by having deep armholes, so the sleeve falls in graceful folds, as you can see in our sketch.

This is a beauty of a dress from Milton Saunders, made of pink wool and trimmed around a shoulder yoke with raised flowers of the material set between zig-zagging lines of the fabric. A belt of the same material has a buckle, likewise covered with it.

Plan Your Meals

Fashion

By MARTHA LEE

EVEN IN THESE DAYS of rationing you can serve nutritious and appetizing meals if you spend a little time and thought in planning them. There are several fundamental rules which if kept in mind will be a big help in making up menus.

The flavor of food is, of course, vital to the enjoyment of any meal. Unfortunately, however, food is too often selected only on the basis of what tastes good without enough attention being paid to its nutritive value. The main background of the diet should be made up of bland foods like bread, cereals, milk and vegetables with the more highly flavored foods used as an accent.

Discriminating eaters agree that there should be a bland taste, a rich taste, and a sharp taste at every meal. This principle in one of its simplest forms is potato soup, broiled chicken and sliced oranges; or a rich stew, a sharp salad and a bland dessert such as ice cream.

TEXTURE AND APPEARANCE

The texture of food is most important, too. Crisp foods should be associated with soft ones and this is true even in the same dish. A fine example is rice pudding with raisins, or ice cream with cake. It's axiomatic that one cream dish should not follow another. A meal consisting of cream soup, creamed chicken and ice cream, for instance, denotes extremely poor selection.

The appearance of food is another important factor in tempting the appetite. Plan pleasing combinations that don't clash in color, flavor, texture or form. Raw vegetables lend crispness and color. Acid fruits and tomatoes give pep to bland foods. The form of the food you serve is perhaps of minor importance, but it has a great deal to do with the appetizing appearance of the meal—and, therefore, affects the amount of food eaten. For instance a shapeless food such as apple sauce or rice pudding should never follow another shapeless food such as creamed chicken or stew.

And—many a meager meal has been saved by a really good cup of coffee. It's so easy to make, too—just measure coffee and water accurately, using 2 level tablespoons of coffee to a cup of water. Serve as soon as made.

Following are suggestions for carefully planned meals:

MENU 1

Lamb and Vegetable Stew
Parsley Dumplings
Pear and Grape Salad
Bread Butter or Margarine
Raisin Spice Cake
Milk Coffee

MENU 2

Broiled Ham
Baked Potato Mexican Corn
Head Lettuce Salad
Bread Butter or Margarine
Baked Pears
Milk Coffee

MENU 3

Barbecued Spare Ribs
Baked Potatoes
Celery Cabbage Salad
Bread Butter or Margarine
Apple Upside-Down Cake
Milk Coffee

LAMB STEW WITH PARSLEY DUMPLINGS

1½ lbs. boned lamb shoulder
6 tbsp. flour 2½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper 4 tbsp. lard
3 medium carrots, diced or sliced
2 cups peeled small onions
1 cup diced celery
2 cups milk

Remove excess fat and gristle from lamb. Cut into 1½-inch pieces. Mix 4 tbsp. of flour with seasonings and dredge lamb in it. Melt lard in heavy kettle, add meat and brown. Add enough water to cover meat and simmer until meat is tender, about 3 hours. Add carrots, onions and celery during the last half-hour of cooking. Add milk to meat vegetable mixture and 2 tbsp. flour blended in ¼ cup water. Cook until gravy thickens. Keep stew at simmering temperature and drop parsley dumplings on top. Cover kettle tightly and cook without removing cover 12 to 15 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

YOU'LL WANT some checked item in your spring wardrobe for checks were featured by all the New York top-flight designers last week. This little black and white checked number created by Louise Barnes Gallagher . . . features the new look box coat because of the raglan sleeves and "football" shoulders. A sheer wool dress . . . rimmed with inserts of the jacket's checked material . . . gives the outfit the costume look.—R. M.

THICKHEADS, THIS WAY!

RALLY ROUND!

A BILL NOW before the Legislature says that if you vote in Boston you're an ignoramus.

It says you lack common intelligence.

It says you haven't sufficient brains to participate in the normal functions of a member of a democracy.

It says you're so close to the moronic type that you can't recognize intelligence in others.

It says you don't know what is good for the minds of your children.

It says that the learned folks of New York and Baltimore and Hartford and Lansing and Washington are the REALLY intelligent people and that you should do what they say you should do, and that your children should do exactly what they think your children should do.

In other words this bill holds that you, being a voter of Boston, are non compos mentis—of unsound mind.

This bill—you old moron—is what the Boston Finance Committee salvaged from the $75,000 Strayer survey of Boston schools.

It proposes to take away from you—you old numbskull—the right to elect the School Committee which selects and directs the system of your children's education.

It doesn't say you shouldn't have any children—that may come later—but it does say that if you have children you're going to lose your right to choose their guidance.

It provides that you—you old thickhead—must relinquish the right to ELECT your School Committee and that hereafter the Mayor of Boston will APPOINT your School Committee.

You're just too darned dumb to do it yourself!

ORIGINALLY the Strayer committee, composed in large part of learned gentlemen employed and residing outside the State, recommended that the Mayor appoint your school committee from nominations made by private individuals and organizations which the Strayer committee held to have more brains than you—you little dimwit.

When this recommendation was made public all you shuffling slaphappies let out such a howl of outrage that the Finance Commission knew such a bill would have no chance.

The Finance Commission then decided that a more subtle means must be used to deprive you of your rights.

So the present bill does give you, as an individual, the right to elect one of a board of 13 nominators who in turn will name three candidates for each School Committee vacancy, and from these, in his turn, the Mayor will appoint the committee.

That's pretty confusing for all you little, low I. Q. voters and our own I. Q. is mighty low, too, because it confuses us.

WHAT WE CAN'T UNDERSTAND IS WHY, IF YOU'RE INTELLIGENT ENOUGH TO SELECT NOMINATORS WHO WILL NOMINATE COMPETENT MEN, YOU AREN'T INTELLIGENT ENOUGH TO GO RIGHT ON ELECTING COMPETENT MEN YOURSELVES.

We can't understand it and nobody else can explain it to our satisfaction. It's just a cannier means of usurping the rights of the electorate.

WE WANT TO SAY this about the rights of all voters. Slowly but surely, for one reason or another, by one pretext or another, they are being taken away everywhere in our nation, and more and more of the power which should be held by the electorate is being transferred to individuals in State and national governments.

And we want to say this about the rights of voters in Boston in particular—about you and ourselves, suckers all, paying the highest tax rates in American history and having, every year, less and less to say about why so much money should be spent and where it goes. Slowly but surely, for one reason or another, by one pretext or another, while the taxes of Boston voters go up, the control of Boston is going out of the hands of Boston voters into the hands of the Legislature and individuals appointed by the State.

The five members of the Finance Commission making this very proposal are themselves NOT ELECTED BY THE PEOPLE OF BOSTON.

They are appointed by the Governor of the State, though their function is wholly municipal.

The Governor appoints the police commissioner, though the commissioner's jurisdiction is entirely within the city of Boston.

The Governor names the three members of the Boston Licensing Board, though they function only within the city.

The Governor appoints the clerks of Boston's Municipal and District Courts—lifetime appointments.

The State owns our city's biggest pier and now it controls our airport.

The Governor appoints members who have a chance to control our Boston Port Authority, our Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners and our Courthouse Commission, and he fills all county ofices in case of vacancy-during-tenure.

But the CITY PAYS ALL THE BILLS.

WE HAVE always looked upon you voters of Boston as pretty smart folks, and there is only one thing now that could convince us you are otherwise, as this proposed Legislation contends.

That would be YOUR FAILURE to make yourselves heard loud enough to DEFEAT THIS BILL.

If you vote in Boston, contact your Representative and Senator immediately and TELL HIM JUST HOW HOT YOU'LL MAKE IT FOR HIM IF HE FAILS TO PROTECT YOUR RIGHT TO ELECT YOUR SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Come on, you grossly stupid voters of Boston—rally round and join us in this fight.

When thou art near me,
Sorrow seems to fly,
And then I think, as well I may,
That on this earth there is no
day
More blessed than I.
But when thou leav'st me
Doubts and fears arise
And darkness reigns,
Where all before was light.
The sunshine of my soul
Is in those eyes,
And when they leave me,
All the world is night.

According to File No. 9876D of our Horses & Women Research Bureau, the measurements of the Venus in question were: Height 5 feet 2½ inches; bust, 32 inches; waist, 25 inches; hips, 36½ inches.

FAIR ENOUGH

CHICAGO, Jan. 16—Now and again I run into some legitimate and well-placed idealist in the labor movement who tells me I have been doing great work for labor and unionism since I began running a temper over the presence of a lot of porch-climbers in their sacred cause, but who then says:

"But, of course, this is just between us because if I were to say so publicly I would give aid and comfort to our enemies"

Westbrook Pegler

By enemies, they mean the employers and all organized industry and those members of Congress and the State Legislatures who want to pass laws that would paralyze the unions.

They also consider the racketeer to be an enemy of labor and are pleased to see them fall, one by one and in bunches, but what they say on that is that rousing them out is my business and not a dull or underpaid business, either.

THEY DON'T mind calling me an enemy of labor, as Will Green did a few years back and often since, because, after all, results alone count and, all they want is that the underworld gorillas and bums who muscled in after Prohibition should be run out and, where possible, thrown into prison, but, anyway taken off their necks.

They also enjoy revelations of such regal status as that which old Dan Tobin, of the teamsters, has conferred on himself, with his luxuries and prerogatives provided by his privy council, and feel that ridicule of such self-importance and ostentation will eventually discredit such individuals and their practices by appealing to the ambition and ideals of better men and arousing the rank and file against their rules.

ON THE CIO SIDE, things are different. The only complaint I have ever received was a remark by a press agent for Harry Bridges, the West Coast labor leader now fighting a deportation order to his native Australia, who said he detested me, but wished he had me doing my stuff with the same conviction and vehemence on their side.

But even the A. F. of L., men who loathe and have fought the CIO-Communist thing for years and years still pretend publicly to regard these bouts with the bolos as attacks on labor with a capital L, again figuring that any results I achieve in this line will be clear profit for them.

So, again, why should they pay something even in mere words of recognition for something that I will have to give them for nothing?

Quite a lot of these older, more intelligent and unselfish ones who do not get big salaries like Tobin's and royal honors and winter palaces and well-paid easy jobs for their relatives, are seriously afraid that the whole cause of unionism and labor is suffering with the fighting men in this war.

They insist that the strike record has been exaggerated, a contention which I will not argue just now, but they know that the fighters, nevertheless, believe the unions have laid down on them and are coming home sore, which, of course, would be very bad for the soldiers, sailors and marines, themselves, when they get back to civilian work. The result might be government control of unionism which would amount to an American equivalent of the Nazis' labor front.

I TELL THEM in honesty, they ought to admit that the guy has turned a few tricks that they should have done themselves but were afraid to tackle until the bums had been softened up by long hammering and had been maneuvered over near the door where one quick shove would boost them out.

But nope, they won't let on. These people, and I mean the good ones, let these conditions develop by moral and physical cowardice and neglect during years when they were respected and even honored as worthy spokesmen of labor and paid to keep the movement clean. Their practice is to move along behind and mop up, installing the best successors they can find as the offenders are eliminated and to take credit to themselves for the reforms.

Well, I don't much mind, at that. I am beginning to understand that.

In the A. F. of L., when a crook has been driven out they try to forget him and help the union back to its feet for the sake of the cause and the members, although I must say they usually put the cause ahead of the members, forgetting that without members the cause couldn't exist.

Hollywood . . . By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 16—Just heard Nunnally Johnson has been doing a little buying on his own. He has arranged for the purchase of Somerset Maugham's book, "Ashenden, Special Agent," and it will be produced by Johnson for International Pictures in the late spring or early summer.

I suppose there is a fashion in authors as there is in plays, clothes and style of actors. Well, Maugham seems to be much in favor these days. First, with "Razor's Edge," the best seller which is being made by 20th, and then with the revival of "Rain" as a Broadway musical. "Ashenden, Special Agent," is based on Maugham's experience with British agents.

Gregory Peck

GREGORY PECK is returning to the stage. Now, before every producer in Hollywood has a stroke or heart attack, it is only for a month. Gregory owns a financial interest in the stage play of "A Bell for Adano," and he promised Fredric March that when Freddie takes a month off in August he'll play "Major Poppolo" before the footlights. "If you get a taste of the stage, do you think you'll go back?" I asked him. "Never permanently," he said. "I like it too much in Hollywood."

MARY PHILLIPS, who was once wed to Humphrey Bogart and is now the wife of Kenneth McKenna, has signed with Columbia to play Mrs. Pringle in "Kiss and Tell." Ken, whose first wife was Kay Francis, is in the Army, so Miss Phillips, who is a fine actress, has decided to continue with her acting career.

THE PRESIDENT saw the infantile paralysis picture, "They Shall Have Faith," and as a result little Gale Storm, the heroine, has been invited to his birthday ball January 31. Gale is the girl we were so attracted to when she made "Where Are My Children?" and we said then she definitely has something that marks her as a promising young actress.

LET A STUDIO sight a stage actor with screen possibilities and you would think they had struck oil. Para at the moment is doing some private nip-ups over a boy named John Lund, who is appearing in "The Hasty Heart." He made his test in New York, and it must have been good because he is being brought to Hollywood in June already penciled in for several co-starring roles in Paramount pictures. There's even a possibility of his doing "Hasty Heart," his Broadway show, which is set in a hospital for wounded British soldiers.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: The gleam in Carole Landis' eye is for Bob Stone, wealthy young rancher from Tucson. He is leaving for New York Thursday to see Carole; Lana Turner and her baby are having an oil painting made by Peter Fairchild, the artist; Ronald Colman's Christmas gift to his wife, Bonita Hume, was a painting of himself; the sailor who was with Shirley Temple at the Beverly Tropics was John Foreman, a friend of her brother; Susan Peters will be brought home from San Diego next week. Her doctors have been very encouraged over the week-end about her condition; Colette Lyon won't be able to divorce Allan Dinehart, Jr. until after the war because he refuses to sign the papers.

ALEXANDER KNOX and bride, Doris Nolan, have been notified to vacate their house because the people from whom they sub-let have a prior lease. Now the Knoxes are afraid they'll have to sleep on a park bench because they can't find a place to live; some gagster put an advertisement in the paper saying that old Christmas trees would be bought for 75 cents each. They gave Dick Haymes' address, and his front lawn looked like a pine forest; Lois Andrews, who has been in Chicago with the "Star and Garter" company, gets back next week.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—President Roosevelt was very much present at the radio correspondents' dinner the other night, but Vice President Wallace wasn't. The V. P.'s absence caused considerable speculation.

There was nothing sinister about it, however—just a lovely ball-up of dates.

Henry Wallace

The radio kiddies originally had scheduled their eating orgy for Jan. 13. They invited Mr. Wallace, who said he would be delighted. But then he discovered he had a previous engagement to address Sigma Delta Chi Fraternity the same evening.

Well, Mr. Wallace likes the radio tots just as much as Sigma Delta Chi-ers. He wished to be with both. So he went to the fraternities and asked if they would mind shifting their spree to Jan. 11.

The Sigmas said, "Sure, Henry, anything for you!" And did a frenzied job of rearranging.

New invitations were barely in the mails, however, when President Roosevelt found his own schedule was horsed up. He informed the radio lads he couldn't make it Jan. 13, but could be on hand if they switched to Jan. 11.

The radio gang said, "Why, that's wonderful, Mr. President. Now we can have Mr. Wallace too!" But when they brought the glad tidings to Henry he reacted strangely.

"Something must have upset him," the radio spokesman reported back to his committee. "When we told him the good news all he did was clutch his hair and make funny noises!"

ONE OF the things OPA seems fondest of doing is issuing statements that this sudden shortage and that is caused by people buying more than sufficient for their immediate needs. The favorite explanation is to liken it to a run on a bank.

Well—a visitor strolled into the cafeteria of OPA's Sugar Division the other day and saw a long line at the cigaret machine. But the oddest part was that the would-be cigaret buyers were not permitted to operate the machine themselves. They handed the money to a girl, who deposited it in the gadget and then handed them their smokes.

This intrigued the visitor, who had heard somewhere about manpower wastage. So he interviewed the vending lady.

"We had to do it," she explained. "Some employes would come in here with as much as $5 in change and practically empty the machine. My job is to see that only one pack goes to a customer!"

A FELLOW, who is pretty close to the inside of the New Deal, called me yesterday and said:

"If you have any idea of interviewing Chester Bowles down at OPA, I would advise you not to delay too long. I do not think he will be with us much longer!"

Hum!—M—M—!

I HAVE JUST read a piece in the January 15 issue of Newsweek magazine (Page 42) that Assistant Secretary of State Archibald MacLeish does not like my poetry. This is a terrible blow because I write it mainly for him.

Newsweek reports that Mr. MacLeish winces when my offerings are read to him. And it adds—the verse he finds most offensive is that poem of sheer adulation:

"Oh, West is West and Eush is Eush
"And so is Archibald MacLeish."

If MacLeish isn't careful I'm going to stop doing nice things for him. He can't go around wincing at my poetry!

INCIDENTALLY, Archibald went to Atlantic City the other day to address the annual meeting of the Association of American Colleges. He told the gathering he had spent 30 years "trying to learn to look at the world as a poet."

At this point I take three more aspirins and continue to quote directly from his speech:

"How a man ought to see the world as an Assistant Secretary of State I am not yet certain. But I am very clear in my mind how he ought to see it as a poet. He ought to see it not with the eye of custom, but with the eye of surprise."

WHAT A SPOT for a piece of minstrel show patter.

"Laundy me, Mr. Bones, what's that thing blinking over there?"

A MAJOR was taking guests on a tour of the Pentagon Building a couple of days ago. And as he got opposite WAC headquarters he made a bow and grandiloquent flourish, declaiming:

"——And on my right hand, ladies and gentlemen: Hobby Lobby!"

As he straightened up he turned suddenly to s'one. Less than two inches from the tip of his outstretched hand stood the head of all the WACS—Col. Oveta Culp Hobby!

Boston After Dark

MORE THAN a year has passed since Moss Hart's AAF play "Winged Victory" had its premiere performance here . . . and now, the circle has come completely around with the opening of the film version of this show at Keith's Memorial tomorrow . . . Playwright-director Moss Hart's show has grossed more than $2,000,000 for Army charities, with another million in prospect before its stage tour is completed . . . and it is expected that the picture "Winged Victory" will swell that total by at least five million more inasmuch as Twentieth-Century Fox has produced it on the basis of turning over all profits to Army charities . . . Moss Hart has indeed become a one-man theatrical factory . . . The original stage production of "Winged Victory" is running at the Civic Opera House in Chicago . . . the film is showing at the Roxy Theater in New York, just beginning its fourth week . . . and Broadway's newest comedy hit, "Dear Ruth," which he directed, is breaking records.

MR. HART will next attempt the impossible . . . He will begin directing rehearsals of the Chicago company of "Dear Ruth," and simultaneously will begin rehearsals of a USO company of "The Man Who Came To Dinner," in which he will also act the part of Sheridan Whiteside, and in which he is scheduled shortly to begin a long tour of overseas Pacific Army and Navy bases . . . This record truly entitles him to some kind of an award inasmuch as he wrote also three sketches which Beatrice Lillie and Bert Lahr are currently romping through in Billy Rose's "Seven Lively Arts."

THERE HAVE been further developments among the 300 GI's of the "Winged Victory" troupe . . . The marriages of two of the show's leading ladies, Phyllis Avery and Elizabeth Frazer, to Sgt. Don Taylor and Cpl. Ray McDonald of the dancing McDonalds, respectively . . . And Lt. Victor Young, who has a large part in the picture "Winged Victory," left immediately for OCS here at Harvard and received his bars in Cambridge last week.

THE PICTURE boasts two graduates of night clubs and beauty contests to near-stardom . . . They are Jane Ball, who used to grace the chorus of Monte Proser's Copacabana in New York, and Jo-Carroll Dennison, Miss America of 1942, who can now be seen in their first dramatic roles . . . Another miraculous leap is that of Judy Holliday, late of the night club act The Revuers, who graces "Winged Victory" in a strictly straight acting job.

Her two other partners, Adolph Green and Betty Comden, aren't doing so badly for themselves either, currently playing in a musical show "On The Town," which they wrote themselves, and which is New York's latest hit.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16—Broadway press agents, too—can be fascinating dinner partners when they talk off the record, for then you learn the things they never told the fan mag writers. Then you hear the stories they never tried to sell a city editor.

The other night I ran into just such a fellow, in just such a mood, and he regaled me with tales of his first conference with the many celebrities he has "handled," as the saying goes. They amused me. I thought they might amuse you. So I wrote them down.

SUNNY TUFTS: "Gee, I'm all for it—but I'll have to pay in installments kinda because everyone sues me."

JACK CARSON: "You can play this up—I look something like Roosevelt did when he was a young man. Get it?"

TALLULAH BANKHEAD: "I'm off liquor since Dunkirk and have to drink this four-letter-word stuff and isn't Herbert Agar the most brilliant four-letter word you ever met?"

AMOS OF AMOS 'N' ANDY: "Don't let anyone else get the credit — Vincent Astor is our most ardent fan."

GINNY SIMMS: "No, Dinah is okay with me, but I know she didn't buy my records just because she likes me personally."

SIGMUND ROMBERG: "You've got to have another stinger; it gives you a real appetite."

BERT LAHR: "Let me tell you just one more about my kid."

HARRY JAMES: "Throw in a plug once in a while for Jerry the tailor—he's been carrying us a long time and I wanna show I appreciate it."

THE ANDREWS SISTERS: "Credit us with guys—it makes us intelligent."

ALLAN JONES: "Can you make them forget I did cowboy pictures?"

BENNY GOODMAN: "I hate interviews."

IRINA BARONOVA: "Most important is to say I'm a ballerina who got no knots in my legs!"

GEORGE RAFT: "Tell them the first thing I read is the editorial page."

JUNE KNIGHT: "I never wear a bra. Should I?"

WOODY HERMAN: "Play up the licorice stick and the tonsils but lay off the blues—they're here to stay."

KEN MURRAY: "Don't mention that I smoke 20 cigars a day because my cigaret sponsors won't like it."

XAVIER CUGAT: "So if you get stuck for an idea, so is easy—I get some country to give me another medal!"

Q—My family allowance was discontinued a few months ago because of the amount of my earnings. My husband has died recently which leaves me a widow. Will I be able to get the allotment again because of sudden change of financial status? D. W., Waverly.

A—If the death of your husband has caused an increased degree of dependency upon the soldier, you may have your case reviewed. If your expenses and earnings are the same as when payment was discontinued, the facor of your husband's death would not make you eligible for payment.

Q—I was honorably discharged from the Navy in 1942, after serving a short time. Later I was inducted into the Army and received an honorable discharge because of a physical disability. Am I entitled to mustering-out pay from the Navy also? E. L., Pawtucket, R. I.

A—Can only receive mustering-out pay once. Therefore your Navy enlistment period was superceded by Army induction, in relation to mustering-out pay benefit.

Q—I will soon be entering the service. Can I make an allotment of my pay to a commercial insurance company for payment of my insurance? D. McL., Cambridge.

A—A serviceman may authorize a Class Allotment payable to insurance company for premiums.

Q—I am a widow and have two sons serving with the armed forces. I received an allotment from one of the boys. If I should decide to get married in the near future, would I still be able to collect allotment. A. S., Brighton.

A—If your marriage would increase your income and you would not be dependent upon son, allotment would stop.

Q—Where could I write to get information regarding beneficiary of my husband's National Service Life Insurance? Prior to our marriage his sister was named beneficiary, but he said he was changing policy over to me. Sister has also given me a certificate of insurance which she has received. I have no official notice of being named beneficiary. B. M. S., Dorchester.

A—You do not receive notification on change of beneficiary. Only original beneficiary named at time policy taken out by serviceman receives certificate of insurance.. However, you may write Director National Service Life Insurance and request if your name appears as beneficiary of husband's policy.

Q—If a man is in the Army and overseas and his wife joins the service, can she get her $50 family allowance from him just the same? A. B., New Bedford.

A—Yes, she can. A wife does not have to be dependent upon the soldier to receive payment of family allowance, and the fact that she joins a branch of the armed services does not cause payment to be discontinued.

'Star In the Window' Here

By PEGGY DOYLE

It occurred to one of us at "Star In the Window," which brazenly opened at the Wilbur last night, that suggestible young women in the audience may be elbowing each other black-and-blue this minute at WAC recruiting headquarters in their rush to become as ack-happy as the play's heroine.

Being a WAC overseas, Playwrights L. Bush-Fekete, Sidney Sheldon and Mary Helen Fay would have you believe, puts the storied belle of the ball, the queen of the college prom and the sweetheart of Sigma Chi into the wallflower classification as popularity pinups.

But it is only meet and just to warn beeline-making applicants at the Boylston st. recruiting offices that there is a fly in the ointment. This headturning heartbreak trail inevitably detours to Linwood, Pa., or some other small or big town, and the tedium of civilian life

The knickknack in khaki who provokes the foregoing outburst is impersonated by Peggy Conklin, an other-times likable actress who appeared at times to be genuinely disconcerted at having to make a mountain out of her molehill problem through three acts and four scenes.

A moderately attractive, modest girl, whom the script identifies as a thoroughly efficient secretary, Miss Conklin's Lt. Jo Madison . . . and the play . . seemed to have no time for comedy or anything else but selecting a fiance.

She has a choice of her schoolday sweetheart, the fiance she left behind her to carry on for defense with his ball-bearing factory, a sergeant and a colonel.

The production's only novelty is the set, a steal on "The Voice Of the Turtle" cross-section apartment with an added if questionable improvement, an upper floor. The tantalizing hope that something might be going on up there because it certainly wasn't going on downstairs hung like a sword of Damocles between the opening and final curtains.

Others assisting in this tedious piece of at-home reportage are Florence Shirley, Roger Clark, Kirk Douglas and G. Albert Smith, as the mother and the sergeant, civilian and colonel suitors. Johnny Venn, as the ex-WAC's kid brother is the almost sole source of amusement, and Judith Abbott, Darthy Hinkley, Jerry Vincent and Richard Coogan, in bit parts, are pleasantly credible as hometown girls and privates.

"Star In the Window" may be washed up as negligible except as it presumes to make theatrical tripe out of a tremendously vital woman's branch of the regular Army.

THAT LIKABLE TRIO . . . William Powell, Myrna Loy and Asta . . . are reunited in Metro's newest chapter in the "Thin Man Goes Home," due on Loew's twin screens on Thursday.

Fine Arts Set For Opening

Gov. Tobin, Acting Mayor John E. Kerrigan and other prominent state and city officials as well as the French consul and members of his staff have been invited to attend the formal reopening of the Fine Arts Theater on Friday.

The occasion will mark the resumption of this intimate playhouse as the home for the exhibition of the finest of films from all foreign studios. The theater has been leased to John Markle and Leonard Tuttle, both highly experienced theater men.

Their opening attraction will be "The Open Road," a first-run French picture with English titles and starring Victor Francen.

The Fine Arts will maintain a policy of continuous performances daily from 12:30 p. m. with a scale of popular prices prevailing.

Hope Springs Eternal: Bob Coming to Boston

By AUSTEN LAKE

LADEEZ 'N GENNEMUN! Pardon my punk puns, but where there is HOPE there is life! That will be Bob, the HOPE which springs eternal where the welfare of the service man is concerned. So Bob, the teapot nosed comedian, is springing to the Boston Garden on Jan. 24 (week-from-Wednesday), with no pay and self-footing the travel expense of his troupe, for the American-Record-Sun-Ad's Disabled Veteran's Fund Show.

Austen Lake

When this writer thinks of Hope, he doesn't do so in terms of a capering gag-master and double-draw expert of the ad lib. Nor as the self-cast dumb-wise guy, timid braggard and generous tight-wad. His stage character somehow dissolves into a broader and more significant scope. To me and to millions of oversea GIs Hope's hilarity is a shiny, lacquer polish that covers the solid core of humanism. And I'll try to tell you why.

I remember the Fifth Base Hospital near Salisbury, England, where the sick, the maimed, the dispirited soldiers waited in the mental vacuity of their hilltop wards for weeks, with nothing on the tip of their tongues but the Bob Hope show that was coming. They were like small kids waiting for Christmas.

And when he came—though he had run himself ragged with six and seven shows a day between bouncing over land in jeeps—he somehow imparted the impression of gay leisure. No quickie, stereotyped stand with a canned repertoire and a fast get-away. He gave a show and then walked through each of the 20-odd, red-roofed, single-story brick hutments and made every anonymous kid with no claim to distinction feel that this was a personal trip to see HIM. He didn't always gag or twist his rubbery face into comic masks. There was none of that professional sunshine spreader. He sat beside the kids' beds and talked—just plain John talk like a cracker-barrel lawyer in the all-purpose store at Perkins' corners.

All G. I. Jesters Rolled Into One

AND WHEN HE LEFT THE Hospital C. O. Col. Keeler said: "We have more than a million dollars' worth of medical machinery here—the best money can buy. But Bob Hope has done more for these men than all the artificial therapy in the hospital."

Let me say before Hope does that any ham can be funny in France or wherever the nerve-fagged GI's gather. They're laugh-starved and the smallest antic and corniest joke acquires an artificial punch that sends 'em into convulsions, like fun among the field mice. Gags, even to theater-born Hope—his tricks of speech, his gift of pantomime, his sense of character, are too fleeting, too brassy, too unvisual to make any man, per se, a monumental memory.

What then is it that Hope has that the other good, selfless, hard working, appreciated USO show folk don't? He has the knack of NOT playing a role, but of being authentic GI . . . For, almost every outfit has some soldier with a gift of nonsense—the company comic who keeps grim life a little brighter. The rest of the men lean on such volunteer clowns for their laughter and look on their simplest sallies as bomb-shells of wit. "Hey, get Pete," they'd say with anticipatory grins. "Wait'll you hear Pete! Hey! Where's Pete?" And presently Pete (or Tom, or Bill, or Mike) would amble up all perky-pussed and primed for monkey-business.

By rolling all these GI jesters into one, and adding a diamond-sharp sparkle, the soldiers see HOPE! He's straight GI, the sacrificial victim of his own gag-traps, strange succotash blend of conscious corn and honest sentiment that somehow survives in soldiers' memory long after the echo of his voice has gone.

Hope Is a World War Legend

I REMEMBER A U. S. ACK-ACK BATTALION that Hope's schedule by-passed in the combat training area of South England. So the 500-odd soldiers tramped 10 miles through the rain-drenched, spongy moors to his nearest stop. But when they arrived the barrack hall was overcrowded and the men, loitering disconsolately outside, heard only gusty laughter. So they started to tramp 10 miles home again in the sloshing rain.

Hope heard about it, piled his troupe into jeeps and set out through hub-deep quagmires, overtaking the column on the road and pitching an impromptu theater in a hillside hollow. There he gave a 45-minute show, soaked to the skin. "Boys," he chirped while the moisture dripped from his ski-chute nose, "the home folks are having a terrific time with the egg problem. They can't get the powdered kind. They gotta use the old fashioned kind you bust open in shells."

And there was that afternoon when Frances Langford sang a heart-throb song and a soldier nerve-case broke into uncontrolled sobs. "I just came from next door," piped Hope amid the agonizing silence, "Were they glad to see me? Got right down on their knees! What a spectacle! What a tribute! What a crap game!" He was the familiar GI ribber with reverse English. The soldier loves a rib!

Hope is an amplified, lime-lit, World War II version of what Elsie Janis was in World War I—a soldier's legend—a fabulous character that flies ahead of his show schedule, to the Aleutians, Alaska, North Africa, Sicily, Britain. He has travelled 80,000 miles to give service shows. Was this free-spirited generosity suddenly war-born? No! In 1941, before Pearl Harbor, Hope got an Oscar! For brilliant acting? No! The inscription read, "For Humanity"—for a record-breaking 562 benefits in two years.

So on Jan. 24 you aren't only paying $1.30, $2.40 and $3.60 to the Disabled Veteran's Fund to see Bob Hope, Jerry Colonna, Frances Langford, Skinnay Ennis, Vera Vague and a Garden-ful of stage and screen monoglow. You're seeing through the mystic looking glass toward vistas of men in olive mustard and navy blue in banked ranks as they watch with enthralled, upturned faces like baskets of six-week puppies. You're seeing behind the guy who is nothing less than first in the hearts of the servicemen.

Long Home Stay May Save B's Playoff Bacon

By BILL GRIMES

For the first time in three visits, the Toronto Maple Leafs will be at full strength when they take on the Bruins tonight at the Boston Garden.

With "Sweeney" Schriner and "Moose" Morris on the hospital list and Ross Johnstone and Jackie McLean, who are students at U. of T., unable to get clearance papers, the Maple Leafs were sorely undermanned in the two previous games. So, they weren't surprised when they were knocked off on both occasions.

"Sweeney" Schriner is making his first appearance here in over two years. A prolific scorer, Schriner was leading the league with 11 goals and 6 assists when he was injured about the middle of November and he has added two more tallies and another assist to his collection since returning to action.

There'll be two other new Leafs, Art Jackson and Jack McGreedy. "Stoney" has taken on a new lease of life, since rejoining the club he "turned" to play with and has picked up a total of nine points. McGreedy was recently discharged from the RCAF.

THOMS HAS ABILITY

There weren't any fans on hand to greet the Bruins when they slipped off their sleeper this morning at the Huntington ave. Station. What's happened to them in the last six games is water over the dam and there isn't anything they or anyone can do about it. They are not only disappointed over their showing but almost fearful of meeting their well wishers.

Bill Thoms, who was signed to a Boston contract by Manager Art Ross last Saturday in Toronto, reported this morning. He hasn't seen action since New Year's night. Thoms is versatile and should prove an asset to the Bruins. He is far better than the average center ice men and he can also play wing or defense. He may be tried out on the defense tonight and if so he will pair up with Coach "Dit" Clapper.

In the event that he is used as a forward, Thoms will be at left wing on the Cowley line and Herbie Cain will be asked to "step down." Cain, who lead the N. H. L. with an all-time high of 82-point season, is in a protracted slump. He has not scored or even assisted on a goal in seven games. A layoff would snap Cain back into his old-time form.

Despite the fact that they have dropped six in a row, the Bruins are not going to give up the ship. However, they must pull themselves together in the next month, during which 10 of their 12 games will be played at home. They've broken one game better than even at the Garden and have suffered 12 of their 17 setbacks on the road.

Harlow Returning To Harvard in Fall

By JACK CONWAY

Lt. Com. Dick Harlow will be back at Harvard by fall, this writer learned from an authoritative source today.

Harlow will take over direction of Harvard's informal football program and make the plans for the resumption of the gridiron sport on a big scale in the postwar period.

Harlow is expected to receive a medical discharge from the Navy with which he has served since 1942. The former Harvard coach saw service in the Pacific as well as in this country. When Dick returned to the United States from his overseas assignment, he was sent to a naval hospital for treatment.

During the later part of his coaching at Harvard, Harlow was taken ill and he underwent a major operation. Many of his friends felt that he was taking too great a physical risk in entering service on account of his health, but he wished to be with his boys of the football gridirons along the various battle fronts.

Harlow has been an inspirational athletic leader as well as one who has been well groomed in the sports he has coached. He took over Harvard football when it was at its lowest ebb. His 1941 team possessed great ability. The Harlow touch patterned a group of youngsters into a powerful football machine.

As head football coach at Harvard, Harlow received $10,000 a year. This was considerable more money than he is paid as a lieutenant commander in the Navy.

Money never did mean too much to Dick. While at Harvard he turned down several offers of $15,000 a year to coach college football teams.

It is believed that Harlow's new duties at Harvard will include advice to returning servicemen who have had their health impaired by the war. No man is better fit than Harlow to guide these youngsters along the road to health. In time some of them may even take part in sports programs.

Harvard will not make any official announcement on Harlow's standing until he has received his naval medical discharge.

Passing the Puck

By BILL GRIMES

Upon his arrival in Montreal early last week, Pres. Mervyn "Red" Dutton lost no time reading the riot act to the official scorer at the Forum. In the three home games just prior to Dutton's appearance, the Canucks were credited with 35 assists on 23 goals. Dutton attended the Toronto and Detroit games last week, so the scorer was unable to donate more than 12 assists for 15 goals.

Since he has been in office, Pres. Dutton has been trying to rectify a bad situation, which places a false value on a hockey player, owing to the indiscriminate awarding of assists. First, he asked the scorers if they would please cooperate. But, Montreal, Chicago and Detroit didn't respond, so Pres. Dutton sent letters to all scorers to follow instructions, or else.

It is becoming more and more apparent that the cash customers are far more interested in the competitive angle than in the caliber of the talent which is bringing them their sports. They want close, hard fought games and with 20 out of the 82 played in the N. H. L., decided by one goal, they are smashing all attendance records this season.

The Canucks' first line is now one, two three on the N.H.L. scoring list. "Toe" Blake is the pacemaker with 46 points, one up on Elmer Lach

Art Ross Sure to Lift Bruins Out of Slump

By JACK CONWAY

ART ROSS WILL have to call upon some of his hockey magic, which has earned him the reputation of being one of the greatest managers the ice game has ever known, to get the Bruins on victory trail against the Toronto Maple Leafs at the Boston Garden tonight. The Bruins have lost six straight games and have shown a lack of a scoring punch.

Earlier in the season the Rossmen had terrific drive, and they made life miserable for rival goal tenders. Then, for some mysterious reason, the club went into a tailspin, and the story of the last six defeats has been a sorry one.

Art Ross

Ross' history in hockey proves that he always comes up with something new when things look the darkest. Since the war he has been obliged to surmount many obstacles as he has had one star player after another taken from his lineup by the armed services.

Bill Thoms, a National Hockey League veteran, will be dropped into the Bruins' lineup tonight. He is a steady player and knows all of the tricks of the game. He may help Ross to solve his problem.

The Montreal Les Canadiens continue to set the league pace, and it looks as if they are on their way to a victory in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Detroit is the only club that has been able to keep within striking distance of Les Canadiens, the Maple Leafs, Bruins, Rangers and Blackhawks follow in that order.

The Maple Leafs have shown strength in recent games, and they will try to capitalize upon the Bruins' slump tonight.

Back on home ice, the Bruins are expected to rally. If they can score a win over the Maple Leafs tonight, they may be able to retain their form.

Hockey has been enjoying a successful season, and it is expected that a large crowd will journey to the Garden tonight to see the Rossmen in action against Toronto.

Heavies to Clash

EDDIE MACK and Jack O'Brien made a wise decision in ordering Henry Jones of Philadelphia and Johnny White of New York, who clash in a 10-round heavyweight bout at Mechanics Building on Thursday night, to finish their training here. There have been so many substitutions in recent Callahan A. C. shows that the fans were naturally losing confidence in the announced programs. If boxers are compelled to come to Boston several days before a match and work out in public, there will not be as many last minute disappointments.

Jack O'Brien, who was ill, is once more back in his office. He will work with Mack in offering the best possible attractions.

There is a dearth of first class boxing talent, while the manpower shortage has caused still further restrictions. Those boxers who work in war plants will be compelled to give a full week's effort, and will not be permitted to take jaunts all over the country in quest of big purses.

Manpower officials do not believe that boxers and other athletes should be permitted to gain draft deferment by getting jobs in war plants and then conduct their athletic businesses on a pre-war basis.

'44 Series Holds GI's' Interest

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 16 (AP)—The 1944 World Series may be ancient history now, but the G. I.'s in India, Burma and China still want to know all the details.

This was the report brought back by three major league baseball players who have completed a 35,000-mile trip to Army camps in India, Burma and China.

"They asked a thousand questions and we tried—we did our best—to answer them," said Luke Sewell, who managed the St Louis Browns to the 1944 American League crown.

"We showed them pictures of the 1944 World Series, gave them baseballs, autographed their 'short snorter' bills or anything else they wanted us to.

"After we had completed our show, we asked if there were any questions.

"You should have seen them let us have it," added Arthur E. Patterson, New York Herald-Tribune sports writer who accompanied the baseball players as master of ceremonies.

"Those boys must have asked us something about every major league player."

The touring players also included Dixie Walker of the Brooklyn Dodgers who led both leagues in hitting last year, and Paul Waner, the veteran outfielder who finished last season with the New York Yankees.

The players played baseball with the engineers at a camp along the Ledo road on Christmas Day. The game went 11 innings to a scoreless tie.

Doubt Frick to Succeed Landis

By FRED HOEY

Suggestions, emanating from the usual source, New York, to the effect that Pres. Ford Frick of the National League may be named high commissioner of baseball to succeed the late Judge K. M. Landis, not only provokes a smile but downright laughter as well.

Frick, in the first place, is a confirmed National Leaguer. Over a long span of years he was closely associated with the late Manager John McGraw and his New York Giants with whom he traveled.

In an effort to sell the National League to the baseball public, Ford Frick was named radio commentator, a job in which he was really swell. So good, in fact, that when the National League moguls fished around for a successor to Pres. John A. Heydler, Frick was named for the job.

For eample, Bob Quinn, president of the Boston Braves, would be a natural. But Bob was treated rather shabbily by the American League after 30 years of loyal and efficient service with the St. Louis Browns and Red Sox. The American League might not regard Quinn as the ideal man.

In these doubtful and grave days anyone's guess is good as another's. But for Ford Frick to take command of the American League, as well as his own National loop, and rule baseball, sounds as reasonable and as logical as that recent Berlin dispatch, which tells the cock-eyed world that Hitler is winning the war.

St. Louis Browns Head Sees Game Continue

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 16 (AP)—Don Barnes, president of the St. Louis Browns, expressed the belief yesterday that major league baseball will operate this year.

"I don't believe the handful of 4-F's connected with the game would help end the war any sooner," he said.

"However, if the government feels that they will, or that shutting down of the game will hasten the end of the war, then baseball men will be willing to close up."

Use Telegraph In Swim Meet

CANTON, O., Jan. 16 (AP)—McKinley High School of Canton engaged in a swimming meet Saturday with Clinton (Ia.) High School but there was no transportation problem involved and the result wasn't known until yesterday.

It was a telegraphic meet.

The athletes swam in their home pools and the results were compiled yesterday by telegraph. Clinton won 31 to 26.

Old Mechanics, Now Tech, Ready for Wars

By MIKE GILLOOLY

A new member will be joining the fight for Boston schoolboy hockey honors tomorrow afternoon when Boston Tech—more easily recognized as Mechanic Arts—will jump into the midst of the battling in the three game session carded for the Boston Garden.

Tech will square off against Public Latin in the nightcap, completing the triple-header which will find Commerce meeting Trade and English facing Roxbury Memorial.

All other intown schools have already opened their ice campaigns, giving the fans a line on what to expect, but unless Coach Herman McGrath is away off on his guess, Tech should be in the midst of the contention for the championship from the start. The Artisans will have "quite a few back from last season" to get them off to a flying start.

"We're rather optimistic this year but we're keeping our fingers crossed," says Coach McGrath.

Tech's first line will have Dick Buivid centering for John Bobek and Joe Petitti, moving up from last season's second line. Petitti wil be replacing ex-captain Warren McPherson who has moved back to a defense post to team with Capt. Walter Black. Zenon Dunag the only first string non-veteran will be in the strings with Ray Worswick as a replacement.

Tech's second line will have a pair of lettermen in Leon Fannier and Mike Brianna teaming up with Gene Hartling and a pair of capable forward replacements in Alfred Moraski and Leonard DeMild. Coach McGrath had originally planned a third line but the other member of the Moraski, DeMild combination has been declared ineligible. Tech's spare defenseman will be Al Carpenito.

TECH OPPONENTS TOUGH

Tech's opposition will be much tougher than the team that dropped a 1-5 verdict to Boston Trade in its opener last week. Coach Charlie FitzGerald of Public Latin will have Jim McMorrow, Charlie Field and Jim McHugh on hand at game time to start for the Purple six. Last week, they didn't get onto the ice until the final minutes of play because of college board examinations.

Winchester's hockey team has been spoiling away with inactivity . . . hockey was revived there last season under Coach John Stevens so that new Coach Larry Palmer, former Vermont University player, had a seasoned crew to work with this winter . . . Winchester has a game scheduled for tomorrow against Watertown but the snow may force another postponement . . . Don Ellis is captain of the team.

All the district schools of the city will be swinging into action with their track teams tomorrow afternoon at the 101st Armory in their class meet . . . but basketball will be very quiet with only the English five playing host to Commerce in a mid-week lapse . . . every other school day has at least three court tilts.

Chalk up another pair of Boosters' Club banquets . . . tomorrow night, the Quincy High followers will get together, close on the heels of North Quincy's affair last week . . . and next Monday night, Salem High School's football team will be feasted by the Salem A. C.

Pep's Physical Holds Attention of 4-F's

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Jan. 16 (AP)—Willie Pep of Hartford, the world's featherweight boxing champ who has a medical discharge from the Navy, today faces a pre-induction physical examination here, the result of which may set a trend for the entire sports world.

Pep, who served a nine months' hitch in the Navy, is the first big-name athlete called by his draft board for re-examination since the recent announcement of the Selective Service plans to force non-essentially employed 4-F's into war work.

BYRNES ON WAR PATH

If Willie is accepted for Army service, despite his Navy medical discharge, it might mean that hundreds of professional athletes now classified as 4-F, may be placed in khaki or blue.

War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes maintains that if an athlete is able to engage in a strenuous physical sport he should also be able, in effect, to carry a gun.

It has been argued that if men wounded in action can be sent back to battle lines, star athletes with ordinary physical defects can be used in some branch of war service.

16 BOUTS SINCE DISCHARGE

Pep's first Selective Service physical exam was taken June 16, 1943. He was accepted by the Navy, but shortly after being sent to physical instructors' school, Bainbridge, Md., Wee Willie required hospitalization. Ninety days later he was given a medical discharge, Feb. 15, 1944.

It is generally believed that Pep has a perforated eardrum, an ailment for which he received medical treatment some time before entering the service.

Since his discharge from the Navy, Pep (Papaleo) has made 16 ring appearances, winning all, 14 decisions and two knockouts. He has won 83 out of 84 fights, 62 in a row, before being outpointed by Sammy Angott on March 29, 1943. Willie is married and the father of a daughter, born last January.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Silver Skates Workout Tonight

Silver Skates Derby contestants will have plenty of opportunity to tune up for the gala ice carnival tonight when the ice at the Boston Arena will be given over to entrants in this Record-American-Sunday Advertiser speed tournament.

Ben Levias, chairman of the Silver Skates Committee, will be on hand to give suggestions and hints.

He'll have a special starting line for Silver Skates hopefuls who'd like to perfect this important phase of the competition. There'll be a grand chance to practice cutting turns on the artificial ice—probably the most important part of the derby and probably the spot where the races are decided.

MAYY SET NEW RECORD

And as the deadline for entries draws nearer, the number of entries continues to mount. It wouldn't be at all surprising if this 10th annual derby, to be staged at the Boston Garden Sunday afternoon, Feb. 4, in conjunction with the Mass. Youth Committee, would set a new record in total entries.

Then, too, there'll be an added race—a half-mile special for servicemen only. This was inaugurated last year but Director Ben Levias had omitted it because he felt that there might not be enough servicemen around to make up a representative field. But requests have been flooding in so that it will be resumed this year. A serviceman competing will still be eligible for the men's senior derby.

5 Colleges Entered In Army Indoor Relays

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 16 (AP)—Penn, Dartmouth, N. Y. U., Cornell and C. C. N. Y., along with the Army team, have entered the second annual West Point track indoor relays, to be held in the Academy field house Jan. 27.

Popp May Dazzle Garden Net Fans

Baldwin-Wallace's Johnny Popp has been making Ohio basketball fans pop-eyed, and if Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute doesn't watch him closely at Boston Garden this Friday evening, the city slickers from Troy, N. Y., will be beaten single-handed—which is just the way young Popp pops his shots.

In leading the Yellowjackets to seven wins in their eight games to date, Popp has accounted for 139 points via 17 field goals and a pair of fouls.

Bowling Green, warming up for its Long Island Univ. game at the Garden, Friday, used the first team only 20 minutes, in downing Case 68-73 for their 11th straight triumph. The elongated Don Otten stretched his 6-foot, 11½-inch form to roll up nine points, to boost his current total to 178 points.

British Dismiss Danny Webb's Appeal

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The British boxing board of control dismissed yesterday the appeal of Danny Webb, Montreal boxer, against a two months' suspension of his fight license and forfeit of his purse money in a bout with Kid Tanner here last Nov. 15. The bout was stopped in the fourth round by Referee Teddy Waltham who declared it a "no contest."
